Watch for our next Shmoozefest event in 2021.

This free industry-only event will feature a panel of experts discussing best practices to stay profitable and overcoming challenges associated with third party delivery orders. These relationships often become unprofitable due to high commissions charged by companies like GrubHub, Doordash, UberEats and others.

Join us as our panel discusses how to overcome increasing delivery order food and labor costs, regulations affecting food handling and delivery, increased competition from delivery-partners and solutions to manage delivery services. Co-sponsorships for future events are available.

What Our Silver Platter Savings Program Can Do For Your Business

It's always been our goal to help food business buyers (our readers) work with the best vendors, and get the best overall value for their dollar. This is evident by seeing the quality and stature of the companies we promote to our readers each month. With every food, beverage and hospitality business facing lower margins due to increased labor and occupancy costs, we feel the time is right for this program.

With this in mind, we are launching the Silver Platter Savings Program, where select vendors will offer Food Industry News readers special pricing, discounts or rebates on their purchases. Food Industry News will have no involvement rebating our readers these funds. This will be handled directly between the vendor and the buyer.

We feel your company is one which would be a good fit for this program. The requirement for all "Supplier Members" for this program is that they run a full page ad with us monthly. It is our goal to help the finest suppliers (our advertisers) do more business with our base of 65,000 loyal (industry buyer) monthly readers.
